

RITE NOW @ ROP

As record numbers of coronavirus cases are reported in Montgomery, J. Walter Wood staff launched a campus Coronavirus “Blackout” campaign to continue awareness of safety and prevention. They kicked off the “Blackout” with a fun photo shoot of departments armed with cleaning supplies and wearing all black, including their new “Be the Calm, not the Storm” shirts. Staff continue to use the cottage group system, sanitize commonly touched surfaces/areas after each element, wear PPE, meet via ZOOM for weekly meetings instead of in-person, handwash frequently, utilize the increased number of sanitizer stations installed around campus, practice social distancing, utilize staff and visitor screening tools, and limit visitors to campus. J. Walter Wood continues to comply with ROP protocols as well as local, state and federal guidelines to support a Coronavirus Blackout.
